

The NASPGHAN practice guidelines and position statements are evidence-based decision-making tools for managing health conditions. This document is not a rule and should not be construed as establishing a legal standard of care or as encouraging, advocating for, mandating or discouraging any particular treatment. Our practice guidelines and position papers should also not be used in support of medical complaints, legal proceedings, and/or litigation, as they were not designed for this purpose. They should also not be utilized by insurance companies or pharmacy benefit managers to deny treatment that is deemed medically necessary by a patient's physician.

The health care team, patient, and family should make all decisions regarding the care of a patient, after consideration of individual specific medical circumstances. While NASPGHAN makes every effort to present accurate and reliable information, these guidelines and position statements are provided "as is" without any warranty of accuracy, reliability, or otherwise, either express or implied. NASPGHAN does not guarantee, warrant, or endorse the products or services of any firm, organization, or person. Neither NASPGHAN nor its officers, directors, members, employees, or agents will be liable for any loss, damage, or claim with respect to any liabilities, including direct, special, indirect, nor consequential damages, incurred in connection with the guidelines or reliance on the information presented.
